Four Lima Motorists Injured In Auto Wreck

LOW BIDDER DID NOT GET ST. JOHNS-RD

Records Show Willite Price Was Among Highest Offers

COMMITTEE IS WELCOMED

Experts View Highway; Warm Weather May Seal Cracks, Belief

Contract for paving St. Johns-rd. let by the county commissioners May 2, 1923, was not awarded to the lowest bidder, according to records of the transaction on file at the Allen-co court house.

Several of the bids submitted on hot mixed asphalt which came within specifications governing the construction were lower than the Andrews Asphalt Co.'s bid on willite, a patent type of paving.

Records show that the Andrews company bid $45,712, on a hot mixed top, while their bid on willite, which was accepted, was $47,913, a difference of $2,200.

The Allen-co Paving Co., which is rumored to have threatened suit over the letting, was the lowest bidder on a hot mixed type of top. Their bid was $42,855.42.

A. J. Gray, commissioner from Perry-tp, declared Thursday that the road was let to the Andrews people on their willite bid because the commissioners decided it was the best for the money.

He further asserted that he is willing to meet with the investigating committee, appointed by the Lima Automobile club, if they come to the commissioners' office.

Only one bid was offered on willite, according to the commissioners' journal. The bid was the one selected.

Gray declared that he believed the type was recommended by Walter R. Toy, who was county surveyor at that time.

J. W. Thompson, county commissioner and candidate for re-election, declared Thursday that he had not favored willite when the contract was let because he thought it was too high priced a material. He fully denied, however, a statement credited to him to the effect that he was compelled by the other commissioners to sign the contract.

Thompson said that willite was the material selected, because it was believed that it would not roll or flow in hot weather as is sometimes the case with other asphaltic types.

Thompson gave as reason for his opposition to willite that he believed that traffic on St. Johns-rd was not heavy enough to justify so costly a type. He believed macadam penetration would have served the purpose for less money.

Bids on the road, as shown by the records, are as follows:

BID TABLE
McHugh & Cole, hot mix, $46,813.34; Allen-co Paving Co., macadam, $23,770.26; hot mix, $43,865.42; George Walthers, macadam, $38,639.00; hot mix, $55,234.10; Andrews Asphalt Paving Co., hot mix, $45,712; willite, $47,913; H. E. Pratt, hot mix, $44,197.90; macadam, $23,234.50; Kentucky rock, 1 1/2 inches, $30,922.30; two inches, $29,772.70; Hell & Long, macadam, $35,222.80; P. F. Walton, macadam, $30,380.98; Frank A. Frohase, hot mix, $48,158.90; macadam, $23,557.74.

Suit over the award, rumored to have been threatened never materialized. An action was commenced in common pleas court, however, by the Willite Road Construction Co., against Andrews for $2,200 royalties. The amount is identical with the difference between the bid on willite and that on a common hot mixed top.

Inspection of the St. Johns-rd made by the commissioners, F. W. Daum, district highway engineer, Charles Ash, resident engineer and Ed Smith, county surveyor, revealed, according to commissioners that conditions are not so bad as represented.

The assert that the three engineers were of the opinion that warm weather will seal the fissures in the surface.

Frank Daum, division engineer for the state highway department was reluctant to make a definite statement on his findings.

It is not the policy of the department to mix into controversies, he said. For that reason, he said he would not make a written report to the commissioners at this time.

CURB AIMED AT PARDON POWER OF PRESIDENT

Right of Chief Executive to Free Prisoner Sentenced for Contempt Is Denied In Ruling of Federal Judges
—Crossman Case Passed Upon

CHICAGO—(Associated Press)—The right of the president of the United States to pardon in a civil contempt case was "denied" today in an opinion signed by Federal District Judges George A. Carpenter and James A. Wilkerson in the Phillip Grossman case which was considered before the Daugherty investigating committee.

The opinion held that Grossman should be taken in custody on sentence of a year in jail for contempt decreed by former Federal Judge K. M. Landis. Grossman was sentenced for contempt in a prohibition case.

The two judges gave separate opinions but concurring in effect.

The opinions of the attorney general of the United States in 1841, 1845 and 1852 as to the president's power of pardon were declared by Judge Wilkerson to have been based upon an erroneous assumption that the president stood in a somewhat similar position toward the United States courts as the king of England toward the English courts.

"It was well said that the power to tax is the power to destroy; it is just as true that the power to pardon for contempt is the power to destroy judicial authority," said Judge Wilkerson. "Nor is it permissible to draw an artificial distinction based upon the method which must be employed or the form of the mandate which must be used in dealing with obstructions of judicial power."

MEASURE TO COURT
Judicial authority is destroyed and the function of the courts as the guardians of the constitution is impaired in just the same way by an act in defiance of the court's prohibition as by the refusal to perform an act until compelled by the courts.

Grossman never had been taken into custody when the presidential pardon came.

"To allow such power in the executive is to strike a death blow at the independence of the judiciary," said Judge Carpenter in his opinion.

"The power to punish for contempt is inherent in, and essential to, the very existence of the judiciary. If the president is allowed to substitute his discretion for that of the courts in this vital matter, then truly the president becomes the ultimate source of judicial authority. Such a holding would be a distortion of that cardinal principle of American institutions that the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government are co-ordinate and proudly independent."

"We are of the opinion that under the constitution the executive cannot draw to himself all the real judicial power of the nation by controlling the inherent and essential attribute of that power—the authority to punish for disobedience of the orders of the court."

"The action of the defendant, based upon the presidential pardon, to modify the order of this court so as to eliminate the jail sentence is denied, and the marshal is ordered to take the defendant into custody and an order of commitment may issue."

WASHINGTON.—(Associated Press)—Attorney General Stone declined to comment today on the action of Federal Judges Carpenter and Wilkerson in Chicago, who denied the right of the president to issue a pardon in civil contempt proceedings.

The case was regarded at the department of justice as raising technical legal questions which none of the attorney general's staff cared to discuss without first having given the question thorough study.

The authority of a court to enforce its order has generally been recognized by the administration especially by the department of justice. It was pointed out by other officials.

The records of the department of justice disclose, it was added, that exercise of executive clemency has generally been considered impossible where the applicant was under punishment for contempt of court.

The theory has been that when the courts to sustain themselves and enforce their orders have resorted to punishment for contempt they must not be interfered with in any way by the executive branch.

INFANT IS KILLED IN ARMS OF MOTHER

RAIN CAUSES NIGHT CRASH NEAR DAYTON

Mrs. Tom Pearman Seriously Hurt; Now in Piqua Hospital

HUSBAND BREAKS SHOULDER

Two Other Occupants Cut and Bruised as Motor Car Overturns

One Lima woman lies in Memorial hospital at Piqua probably seriously injured, her husband is suffering a fractured shoulder, and two other women sustained cuts and body bruises—all the victims of an automobile accident late Wednesday night south of Troy, near Dayton.

Mrs. T. P. Pearman, 870 W. Market-st., is in Memorial hospital at Piqua, seriously injured. Hospital attaches fear she has internal injuries.

T. P. Pearman, Y. M. C. A. secretary, 870 W. Market-st., has a fractured shoulder. He was released Thursday from Memorial hospital, but is still in Piqua.

Mrs. T. R. Alexander, 756 W. Elm-st., at her home suffering body bruises.

Mrs. Clarence S. Ziff, 134 S. Metcalf-st., sustained slight body injuries. She is at her home.

CONDITION SERIOUS
Mrs. Pearman did not regain consciousness until 10 a. m. Thursday, hospital authorities reported. Her condition is reported serious and fears are entertained that she may be suffering internal injuries, which may confine her to the hospital for some time.

The automobile party had been to Dayton Wednesday where Pearman attended a Y. M. C. A. committee meeting and the state convention of foremen's clubs. After the meeting they started for Lima.

South of Troy the automobile, which Pearman was driving skidded on the slippery pavement made treacherous by heavy rains and the car careened from the road, plunged into a ditch and overturned.

The four occupants of the car were trapped in the wreckage. Pearman is believed to have been pinned under the steering wheel and his shoulder fractured. Mrs. Pearman, who was in the front seat, was knocked unconscious and the other women sustained bruises and slight cuts from shattered glass.

The injured were rushed to Piqua where Mrs. Pearman and husband were admitted to Memorial hospital. Mrs. Alexander, wife of the local Y. M. C. A. membership secretary and Mrs. Ziff were not admitted to the hospital. The automobile was almost totally wrecked.

COUSINS ADMITS VIOLATION

Judge Hamilton Reserves Decision on Liquor Stocks

Decision in the case of Joe Cousins, junk dealer, Oakland hotel, was taken under advisement by Probate Judge J. H. Hamilton, Wednesday when the defendant pleaded guilty to illegal possession of intoxicating liquors.

Cousins entered his plea on only part of the extensive stocks found in his junk yard and the Oakland hotel. On the remainder of the stock he has claimed immunity from prosecution on the grounds that his ownership is legal.

He based his claims on the ground that port wine found in the junk yard is sacramental wine and certain wines and liquors found in his rooms by state dry raiders and county officers were acquired prior to prohibition.

Judge Hamilton will hand down a decision later and will announce the amount of fine at the same time. The fine will be for at least $750 it is believed. That was the amount assessed Joe Kaufman, 1005 W. High-st., found guilty Monday for possession of alcoholic beverages found at the Vapo stove works.

Cousins produced witnesses who told the court that they knew a portion of the Oakland hotel stock had been in the defendant's rooms for the past five years.

Judge Hamilton in ruling will determine the question of whether finding illicit liquor together with legal stock also makes the latter illicit.

CINCINNATI—A pawn ticket for a violin is the sole clue to the identity of a blind man decapitated by a train last night. The ticket was issued on a Columbus pawn shop for one dollar. There were no witnesses to the accident.

LOVED HER CAREER TOO MUCH

Jeanne Gordon, Metropolitan Opera contralto, cared more for her art than she did for her husband and child, Richard K. Tix, wealthy Detroit real estate man, charged in his divorce petition. The court granted him a decree and custody of their 11-year-old daughter, Jane. Gordon says he sympathizes with his wife's ambitions.

NEWLY WED JAPS $500,000 Left To Hollywood Cop

LOS ANGELES—(Associated Press)—Receiving a message inquiring as to the whereabouts of Herbert R. Reynolds, described as beneficiary of a $500,000 estate in Philadelphia, police officials here discovered the man sought was a man of their force and called him off a beat he was covering in Hollywood. Reynolds heard the news without enthusiasm and declined to tell reporters how it feels to be rich. He said the estate was that of his father-in-law, the late Mangus Brown.

The following ruling was made today by the experts who assisted in drawing up the bill:

"The bill provides for the admission as a nonquota immigrant, of an alien previously lawfully admitted to the United States who is returning from a temporary visit abroad."

"Such an alien is expressly exempted under the provisions of the exclusion clause. It follows that a Japanese, desiring to re-enter the United States after a temporary sojourn in his native land or elsewhere, is admissible if he was lawfully admitted when he first entered this country and if his visit or sojourn abroad has been 'temporary' within the meaning of the law. The bureau of immigration and the department of labor have construed the word 'temporary' as meaning a period of time of six months or less."

Informed by congressional leaders that both the senate and house are certain to pass the bill as it stands, President Coolidge is giving thought to the action he will take on the measure. Indications are that he is giving thought to these three courses:

Signature of the bill without any statement or declaration.
Signature of the bill with an accompanying statement, expressing disapproval of the exclusion provision in such a manner as to mollify offended Japanese sensibilities.

Return of the bill to congress without signature and with a message declaring the executive's approval of all provisions of the measure with the exception of the exclusion section.

Indications were given by some of those close to the president that the last two courses are being given the most thought. The expiration of the immigrant act June 30 and the approaching adjournment of congress are complicating factors.

LETTER SENT TO GOVERNOR BY LIMA MAN

Baseball Pools and Racing Bets Are Hit by State Edict

BINGHAM AND LANKER ACT

Billiard Room Owners Warned in City Hall Conference

Governor Vic Donahey in his drastic state-wide drive for law enforcement Wednesday launched an offensive against alleged open gambling in Lima billiard parlors.

In a personal letter to City Manager C. A. Bingham the state executive cited five billiard parlors where gambling is conducted openly in violation of the state law, and ordered Bingham to suppress such reported lawlessness.

Donahey did not discriminate against any one form of gambling. He informed Manager Bingham that open gambling had been reported flourishing in Lima by a citizen who charged that baseball pools are sold over counters on league games daily and that weekly pools are distributed here on baseball and lottery on horse races flood the city.

Manager Bingham upon receipt of the governor's letter Wednesday summoned Police Chief T. A. Lanker on the "carpet" at city headquarters and invited billiard parlor proprietors into conference toward carrying out the demands outlined by Governor Donahey.

"PERSONAL LETTER"

The letter, which was signed by the state executive and claimed by Donahey as a "personal business letter" between officials for the good of the state, commended Lima officials on past enforcement of the law but warned against laxity as charged in the charges aired to him.

Information concerning the governor's participation in Lima law enforcement was obtained by The Lima News from an authentic source. Thursday morning when questioned pointblank on the matter, Manager Bingham admitted that he had received a personal letter from Governor Donahey regarding conditions in Lima.

"It was so personal," Bingham said, "that the governor informed me there was no copy made for file in his office and that no answer on conditions existing here was necessary."

At the law enforcement conference Wednesday afternoon in the city manager's office the issue was presented to billiard parlor proprietors with a request for cooperation in living up to the no gambling demands of the state executive. Warnings were also issued that if reports of baseball pool selling and other gambling, as charged by the citizen in the letter to the governor, are received at headquarters from any billiard parlor in the city, officials here will tighten the lid on rummy games for merchandise, it is claimed.

NO BOOTLEGGING

"There was no mention made against bootlegging, just gambling," Manager Bingham said. "A private citizen reported to the governor and not state officials who waged war here against liquor violators."

Bingham admitted there is card playing in Lima billiard parlors. He upheld it rather than condemned it, stating that amusement derived from such pastime tended to eliminate to a great extent the secret gambling rooms in the city.

"Everyone here knows that there is card playing in billiard parlors," Bingham informed a Lima News representative. "The pastime is harmless and not considered gambling. Men, many of them substantial business men, play for checks which are traded in the stores for merchandise."

"Rummy is the favorite game in billiard parlors. Checks are given to the winner of the game. The checks are cashed in for merchandise at the store and no cash stakes are put up by proprietors or participants in the game. This practice had been prevalent here for several years."

Following the conference at city hall Wednesday afternoon, Manager Bingham sent a letter to Governor Donahey in which he advised the executive that persons cited by the citizen had been warned and that law enforcement would be carried out in Lima.

M'ADOO MEN WIN IN HOT FIGHT

Kentucky Delegation Pledged to California Candidate

DISORDER MARKS MEETING

Unit Rule Adopted Over Protest of Underwood Backers

LEXINGTON, Ky., (Associated Press) — The Kentucky delegation of twenty-six to the Democratic national convention was instructed for William Gibbs McAdoo for the presidential nomination after his supporters favored adoption of the unit rule by the state convention which adjourned here early today after a session marked by commotion and disorder.

The unit rule was adopted after three roll calls and over the strenuous objection of supporters of Oscar Underwood, United States Senator from Alabama, who asserted their intention to take an appeal from the decision before the national convention at New York, since two delegates in the ninth Kentucky district had been instructed for Underwood.

FORMER RULING CITED

It was held, however, that despite the district instruction, the state had a right to declare for the unit rule. It was said that in 1912, the Baltimore convention ruled in a similar instance that the state convention's right to declare the unit rule in effect was supreme.

The McAdoo forces dominated the convention thru a coalition with the state administration but did not obtain their desires without a hard fight.

W. T. Hill, contending in behalf of Senator Underwood, made a vigorous speech against the unit rule, mentioning McAdoo's name in connection with Teagart issue, but was howled down. He was unable to make himself heard for several minutes and when he resumed it was along another angle.

MICHIGAN CONVENTION
FLINT, Mich., (Associated Press) — Democrats opened their state convention here today. Indications early in the day were that the session would be harmonious and that delegates would take no action on the unit rule or other questions on which there were conflicting opinions.

It was tentatively decided by leaders to adopt a resolution favoring law enforcement and to send a delegation to the national convention unopposed, except to cast the favorite son ballot for Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris.

LOCAL AMATEURS LISTEN FOR PARIS BROADCASTING

Local amateurs are listening for test signals from the Eiffel Tower in Paris following a special request to do so from General Perle, director of telegraphs for the French government.

A special short wave transmitter has been installed at the tower for this purpose and reports by amateurs of this country, under varying weather conditions, are to be sent to headquarters of The American Radio League and forwarded to the French government.

Hiram Percy Maxim, president of the American Relay League, learned from General Perle personally that his government is desirous of obtaining the cooperation of American amateurs.

A definite schedule of transmission has just been received from the Eiffel Tower station, and P. H. Schnell, traffic manager of the American Radio League, has asked American amateurs to listen for special tests during the rest of the month.

BEER TRUCK SALE IS ORDERED

Mortgage Must be Satisfied, Court Rules in Case

Sale of a Mason truck, wrecked by beer runners at Bluffton last fall, was ordered by Judge J. H. Hamilton in Probate court Thursday. Sale will be advertised for June 26.

Order for sale of the machine was made following a hearing to determine validity of a mortgage held by the Commercial Credit Co. of Cincinnati, for $1,023.

Representatives of the credit company testified that the machine was being used for hauling beer without their knowledge. The court allowed the mortgage as a lien against the truck.

The truck fell into Sheriff Crookson's hands when drunken beer runners known as John Doe and Jack Roe, for that purpose, wrecked the car on an old horse block.

They fled and residents notified the sheriff. Ten half barrels of beer and 60 cartons of beer were held several months and finally dumped.

Judge Hamilton ordered that the truck be sold and fees and storage charges first satisfied. Then the mortgage will be paid, and any balance will accrue to the county.

WHEELER IS GIVEN CLEAN BILL

Montana Solon Exonerated by Senate Committee

MINORITY VERDICT FOUND

Sterling Dissents from View of the Majority

(BULLETIN) (Associated Press) — The department of justice will continue its proceedings against Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, under indictment in his home state, despite the senator's exoneration by a senate committee.

Attorney General Stone said today he saw no reason for a change in the department's attitude and that no reason appeared for dismissing the proceedings.

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — A report exonerating Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, "from any and all violation" of the statutes under which he was indicted at Great Falls, Mont., has been submitted to the senate by Chairman Borah of the special committee which investigated the charges against him.

The report which was signed by four of the five members of the committee, was confined to the question of Senator Wheeler's guilt or innocence and made no mention of the indictment or the preceding activities in Montana of Blair Coan at the direction, he testified, of Secretary Lockwood of the Republican national committee.

Senator Sterling, Republican, South Dakota, dissented from the committee majority's view as to its functions, holding that it was not instructed to pass upon the guilt or innocence of Senator Wheeler, but upon the question whether the indictment was justified by the evidence or as charged on the floor by the Montana member, was the result of a "frameup." He reserved the right to submit a separate report.

The majority report which Chairman Borah announced he intended to discuss later, said the committee had found that Senator Wheeler had "neither received nor accepted, nor agreed to receive or accept any compensation whatever, directly or indirectly, for any services rendered or to be rendered" in behalf of Gordon Campbell, the Montana oil operator indicted with him, in relation of any case "in which the United States was a party, or directly or indirectly interested."

PRIEST PAPERS HOUSE WITH POSTAGE STAMPS

BIRBAK, Cal. — Perhaps the most patiently papered house in the country is that of the Rev. A. Bucci, a retired priest, who has "hung" two rooms of his home here with 149,242 canceled postage stamps. More than 30 years were required in collecting the stamps according to Father Bucci, and practically every nation in the world is represented in the geometrical design of the wall borders and in the color schemes employed on walls and ceilings.

On one of the ceilings is a design of the Stars and Stripes, with Italian stamps forming the blue field and American two-centers supplying the red stripes. The brown stuff upholding the banner consists of Canadian stamps, while the white stripes of the flag are formed by the stems of bare ceiling remaining after Father Bucci completed his "paperhanging."

AWED BY ROYALTY
LONDON — When 500 children placed envelopes containing money they had collected for St. Luke's Memorial Hall on the platform, one minute was so overcome by the presence of Princess Arthur of Connaught that he passed on still clutching his envelope. But the Bishop of Kensington was on guard and reminded the boy of his slip.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NOT A TRUST BUT TRUSTEE

CINCINNATI—That The Associated Press is not a trust but a trustee, recognizing the responsibility of telling the truth respecting the world's happenings, was the declaration of Melville F. Stone, former general manager and now counsel of the organization, in a talk to members of the National Coal Association in annual convention here today.

Stone said The Associated Press is a cooperative news gathering organization, having no stock, no capital, making no profits, selling nothing, but supported by the newspapers constituting its membership, and having no purpose other than to secure and furnish truthful, impartial facts to its members.

G. A. R. Veteran Enlists Again On Life Hitch

Chalk up another absent member for Mart Armstrong Post, No. 202, Lima G. A. R.

No, the absent member in this case has not passed to the Great Beyond, but he will be unable to attend future meetings of the Post, and will be one of the three members of the local post who will not be able to participate in the Memorial Day exercises here.

Because G. J. Barr, 75, the veteran in question, will be married Friday night to Mrs. Mary Renner, of Portland, Oregon, at Chicago. From there the pair will honeymoon to Oregon, where they will make their home.

Barr made his home while in Lima on W. Market-st. He was in the Soldiers' Home at Dayton during the winter, doing special work for the institution. Mrs. Renner has lived here for several years, but her home is in Portland, Oregon.

GROUND IS BROKEN OXFORD—Ground for the new $200,000 recreation building, which will also house the liberal arts college, has been broken. The old main building has proved inadequate for the needs of the arts college, and the new building will facilitate the carrying on of the class work.

BONUS BILL IS VETOED BY PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

Attempt to Override the Chief Executive Will be Made, Advocates of Measure Announce Immediately on Receipt of the Measure

WASHINGTON—(Associated Press)—The soldier bonus bill was vetoed today by President Coolidge.

On the heels of his disapproval of the Bursum pension bill because he felt it would be an undue strain on the treasury, the president sent back to the capitol for the same reason the compensation measure which would give free life insurance policies to world war veterans.

Advocates of the bill immediately announced that an attempt would be made to pass the bill over the president's veto. The measure had passed the house by a vote of 238 to 189, and the senate by a vote of 74 to 26.

The veto message based on estimates of probable expenditure provided by the budget bureau was addressed to the house, where the bill originated, and where the first test of strength must come in the effort to override the president's disapproval.

MARYLAND CONGRESSMAN EXONERATED IN REPORT

WASHINGTON—The house committee authorized to investigate the charge made before a Chicago grand jury that Representative Zihlman, Republican, Maryland, accepted a bribe reported today that the committee's evidence does not establish truth of the charge.

Coincident with submission of the report to the house, Representative Langley, Republican, Kentucky, who also was mentioned in the Chicago inquiry and who was convicted several days ago of violating the prohibition law, notified speaker Gillett that pending final action on his appeal he would obtain from attending house sessions or participating in proceedings of the house public buildings committee of which he is chairman.

BODY OF BANDIT SLAIN AT CLEVELAND IDENTIFIED

CLEVELAND—Body of a bandit who was slain here last night in a gun duel with his victim, was identified today as that of Vincent Smogers, 26, Pittsburg.

John Dore, grocer, told police he counted the day's receipts when Smogers appeared in the store and at the point of a gun forced him to hand over the cash.

When the robber stopped to pick up a bill, he dropped. Dore opened fire, three bullets piercing the bandit's body. The robber fired four times and then slumped down dead.

PRISONER IS PAROLED BY GOVERNOR DONAHAY

COLUMBUS—Governor Donahay today pardoned Della Dayluff, of Ross, Tuscarawas co., from the Stark co. jail in which he was serving out a fine of $550 and costs imposed upon him by the probate judge of Carroll co. for transporting liquor. Dayluff's friends have raised about $115 to pay his fine, which with the credit for time served amounts to about $200. He has a wife and two small children dependent upon him for support.

In giving a history of the case to the governor, the probate judge who sentenced Dayluff said he was only acting for a liquor ring which after he had been caught, refused to pay his fine.

GEORGE REMUS TO TESTIFY BEFORE DAUGHTERTY PROBES

ATLANTA—George Remus, Cincinnati, serving a term in federal prison here, will be taken to Washington today or tomorrow to testify in the Daughterty investigation in the senate.

Remus was subpoenaed by the committee to testify regarding an alleged Ohio rum ring he is supposed to have made several million dollars from.

HOUSE APPROVES JAP BAN DATE

Conference Report on Immigration Measure Adopted

WASHINGTON—(United Press)—By a vote of 208 to 58, the house today approved the immigration bill conference report making Japanese exclusion effective July 1 and restricting general immigration to approximately 150,000.

Administration leaders in the house who opposed the July 1 date last week, when the report was sent back to conference, supported it today after announcing the vote for the report was not to be regarded as a vote against the provision.

The conference report now goes to the senate, which is expected to accept it tomorrow, whereupon the measure will go to the president for action.

CHINESE COOLIES GO THRU LIMA

Workers on Way to Cuba to Harvest Sugar Crop

Nearly 200 Chinese coolies, bound for Cuban sugar plantations, went thru Lima at 3:15 Thursday morning in a special Erie train of seven coaches which is carrying them to New York. From there they will go by a special boat to their destination.

The coolies came directly to Seattle, Wash., from their native country. From Seattle the Great Northern and the C. B. & Q. carried them to Chicago, and from Chicago the Erie is taking them to New York City.

The train was heavily guarded by government attaches, to prevent any of the Chinese from leaving the train and staying in this country.

According to a Cuban law, the coolies will be permitted to remain there only a few months, and after that they will return by the same way they came.

MAN NEAR DEATH

Operation Performed in Effort to Save Frank Davis

Frank Davis, of Van Wert, who suffered an injury to his head Tuesday night when he fell at the police station, is in a critical condition at City hospital. An operation was performed Thursday in an effort to save his life.

Davis sustained severe cuts about the head and a slight fracture of the skull several months ago when he fell off an engine he was repairing. He never fully recovered from the injury and the fall Tuesday night reopened the wounds.

7,000 CATTLE TESTED IN COUNTY; RECORD VERY GOOD

More than 7,000 cattle have been tested for tuberculosis in Allen county during the first four months of the year, according to official figures in the hands of H. J. Ridge, county farm agent. Of these, 72 were found to be reactors.

Four thousand cattle were tested in the month of April alone when six state veterinarians came here to carry on bovine tuberculosis eradication work.

In comparison with figures of other counties, Allen has a low percentage of cattle with the disease. Cuyahoga co., with less than 5,000 head tested during the four months, had over 800 reactors.

During the four months period, 70,000 cattle were tested in twelve counties all over the state, according to figures received here by Ridge. Almost half of that number were tested during April when state veterinarians began the eradication campaign.

WHOOPEE! WARM WEATHER COMING

Skat was staggered Thursday when he read the weather report in The Backyard Daily Gossip.

Once the weatherman did not predict rain or showers and this fact was almost too good to be true. Wednesday when the sun was shining the weatherman prophesied rain and rain it did Thursday with a cloudy sky he asserted it will be fair Thursday night and Friday and warmer Friday.

"I'm going to hope for the best and try to believe his prediction," Skat announced.

LAND PURCHASED

Rumor Declares Railroad Has Bought Stone Company Property

Deal for a small portion of land adjoining the D. T. & I. railroad and belonging to the National Quarries Co., which is needed by the railroad in its proposed terminal at the intersection of the D. T. & I. and the L. E. & W. railroads, has been closed, it was rumored here Thursday.

This land is needed by the railroad to complete a tract of land acquired some time ago for the purpose of double tracking the road and establishing terminal facilities and yards here. About 400 acres of land in all have been purchased.

All negotiations are being carried on at Carey, headquarters for the company. It is understood, and attempts to verify the rumor were fruitless at that source.

DON JACOBS BACK FROM CREDIT BUREAU MEETING

Don C. Jacobs, Lima commerce board head, returned Thursday morning from Windsor, Ontario, and Detroit, in which places he attended conventions of the Associated Credit Bureau of Michigan, and the Detroit Credit Men's Association, respectively.

Owing to the fact that many members of the committee are out of the city, the executive committee of the board of commerce did not hold their regular meeting at noon Thursday.

STRAW HAT SEASON HERE; WEATHER PREVENTS DISPLAY

Thursday marked the opening of straw hat season. But the straw hats were conspicuous by their absence, only two or three of them could be detected.

Rains of the past few days and threatening showers Thursday put a damper on what would probably have been a banner opening day.

Merchants here have practically all of their spring stock in, and windows of the various haberdasheries are full of the new spring toppers.

ELECTION POSTPONED

Election of officers for the Allen co. Child Welfare Association, scheduled for Thursday noon at the Lima club, was postponed until Saturday noon because of the absence of a quorum. Less than ten of the fifteen trustees were present at the meeting and a two-thirds vote is required. The meeting Saturday will be held in the office of Dr. Josephine Peirce, president of the association.

JOB FOR OLD MEN THIS MURDER

Aged Residents Hold Death Lottery, Confession Says

VILLAGE SMITHY IS VICTIM

Shack Dynamited to Get Rid of Him

BY JACK JUNGMEYER
LOS OLIVOS, Calif. — (Special)

It was a job for old folk, for old men edging toward the grave into which they were to blast a superannuated neighbor.

Such, according to confession and a triple murder charge, was the decision of patriarchs of this little town when they assembled and conspired to annihilate the village smith, hated and feared recluse, about whom had grown a dark, medieval legend of menace.

Three elders, leading citizens of Los Olivos, are awaiting trial at Santa Barbara for the death of J. J. McGuire, 75, in the dynamiting of his hermitage last December.

The accused are W. F. Crawford, 70, and Taylor Downs, 75, wealthy ranchers, and the latter's son, William H. Downs, 52, postmaster.

Arrests were made only recently when Harvey Stonebarger staggered the town by confessing, according to District Attorney Clarence Ward, that he and the trio facing trial had planned the death of McGuire following a lethal lottery in which many elders had participated. He affirmed his story at the preliminary hearing, securing state's evidence immunity.

PLAN DEBATED

Supporting testimony revealed a strange tale of village fury and repeated nocturnal debate by community leaders on how they might eliminate their execrated townsman whose gloomy eye, they charged too often upon the women and children.

The aged smithy had become a dread. He lived alone in a little hut at the edge of town, irascible, eccentric, fumed with sulphurous glow of his forge, his rheumy eyes blazed with evil portent, so the village gossip went.

Women spoke of how McGuire had molested them, using profanity and threats. Children whimpered of having been frightened. Some of these children in turn indulged that fearful nagging of those they mark for ogres, so like the harassment of witches in elder times.

Attempts were made to persuade him out of town. He, feeling himself abused, would not go. On one occasion, according to residents, he threatened to kill Postmaster Downs and his family, flourishing a pistol. That got him 90 days in jail.

Again his smithy bellows hissed defiance, and to the knell of hammer on anvil gossip fanned the civic fury anew. With nothing to lay a legal finger upon, the town's patriarchs determined to sit in grim judgment upon him.

A death lottery was called. The citizen getting the fatal slip was to shoot McGuire, so Stonebarger's confession ran. Young men were excluded. This was no time for hot adolescent passions, but for the grave deliberation of senescence. But the very timors of age frustrated the lottery. The man elected told his wife, and she would not let him shoot.

There was an interval of a month. A smaller number of elders, moved by a weird sense of sacrifice for the public good, lit the fuse of hatred. McGuire groaned a name as he lay dying in the debris of his shack — a clue which led to the recent arrests.

FINDS "PEN" MIGHTIER THAN OFFICE

Mrs. Mabel Phillipson, one of the pioneer woman members of Britain's parliament, photographed upon her farm to which she will retire with the next general election. Her husband will be a candidate to succeed her. Mrs. Phillipson finds she needs to devote more time to raising children, pigs and crops.

OLD ENGINEER ACTIVE
MOSINEE, Wis. — Frank Pond, 83, engineer of Lincoln's funeral train in 1865, is still in active service—running a pony engine in the paper mills here. Pond also was fireman of the train which carried Lincoln as president-elect to Washington.

SLEUTH IN PULPIT
LONDON, England. — Carefully hidden behind the pulpit, the janitor of St. Wilfrid's church saw Miss Lillian Bellamy, a music teacher, remove free-will offering envelopes from a box with a hat-pin. A charge of burglary was placed against the woman.

'First Aid' For Sick Children

THE experienced mother is not alarmed when a child becomes sick. She knows that most of the ailments of childhood are trifling. If it seems serious she calls a doctor, but whether or not she calls him she gives, first of all, a good laxative medicine. The doctor would advise that anyway. It is his "first aid." Such experienced mothers as Mrs. Everett E. Hunt of Belzoni, Okla., who has three children, and never any sickness, and Mrs. F. B. Kuklenki of Prosser, Wash., always give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at the first indication of sickness. Such timely doses have saved them much worry.

The Meaning of "Good"

All doctors agree that a thorough cleaning out of the bowels is of first importance for it removes dangerous intestinal poisons. They will also advise a "good" laxative, and by "good" they mean one that is effective and yet harmless. They know that there are physics that never should be given to children — calomel, which is mercury and loosens the teeth; phosphorated oil, a coal-tar drug that causes skin trouble; salts, which concentrate the blood and dry up the saliva. They consider Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin safe for all ages as they know it is a simple vegetable compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and agreeable aromatics. The formula is on the package.

Give Laxative for Colds

Adults should have at least one movement of the bowels every 24 hours, and children two or three. Failure to have it means constipation, then headache, biliousness, drowsiness, lack of appetite. Give a dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at bedtime, and there will be health and good feeling by morning. A dose costs less than a cent, and a bottle can be had at any drug store. Colds and constipation come together, so if you notice coughing or sneezing stop it at once with Syrup Pepsin.

AMERICAN YOUTH TALLER THAN ENGLISH COUSINS

READING, England — Young America has the advantage both in height and weight over little John Bull, according to Doctor Milligan, local health officer who, in his annual report, compares English children examined during the last three years and American youngsters of similar ages. In every case, the doctor states, the advantage both in height and weight rests with the Americans, a superiority which he says becomes more emphasized in the older groups.

The average height of Reading boys of 12 years 3 months is given at 45 3-4 inches and the weight 73 pounds as against 56 3-4 inches and 79 pounds respectively in the case of American children of corresponding age. It would appear, Doctor Milligan adds, that those circumstances which assist growth in children are more favorable in America than in England.

ADULT EDUCATION FOR ALIENS

Public Library Starts Move to Encourage Study

TEACHERS OUTLINE WORK

Plan Has Been Very Successful in Infant Stage

CHICAGO—(Associated Press)—With the grant of $26,000 made by the Carnegie Corporation to the American Library Association for a study in adult education and other library data, headquarters here believe that the step about to be undertaken will have a profound influence on the future development of American libraries and their service as educational centers.

Reports from libraries throughout the country, where this service already has been started on a modest scale, show possibilities of becoming a means of self-education, Americanization, technical, mechanical and cultural development and a helpful source toward an understood citizenship. A summary of the report follows.

In Seattle, the Public Library begins its Americanization work at the detention quarters of the Immigration Service. The men and women there now are largely Russian, professional men and women, musicians, artists, athletes, etc. By installing a collection of books there it provides an opportunity for the eager, lonely newcomers to learn something about America and the English language. Foreigners not detained are reached thru the churches, talks by the librarian at night schools, distribution of circulars about the library in 16 foreign languages, thru naturalization officials and thru the foreign press. Laborers, housewives, engineers, singers, lawyers and architects, says the librarian, kneel before the shelves of "free books for foreigners."

SUPERVISED BUREAU
The Chicago Public Library has established a readers' bureau whose function is to increase the usefulness of the library to men and women who wish to continue their education out of school. This bureau prepares the outlines for the study of any (non-vocational) subject for patrons interested in following a definite course of reading. The library undertakes to supply the books prescribed in each course in consecutive order and at proper intervals. So eager were the people for this service that within a few weeks after the first announcement was made the publicity was stopped and the library concentrated its efforts on catching up with the requests already made.

The Detroit and Buffalo Public Libraries and probably others are entering a similar service. Cleveland Public Library has an adult education assistant in its school department, whose function is to make

ESKIMOS CONTROL VAST HOLDINGS

Alaskan Superintendent Values Reindeer at $5,000,000

NEW GRAZING PROPERTY

Privately Owned Herds Drive Deer to Broad Pass

CANTWELL, Alaska — (Associated Press) — Thirty years ago the Eskimos of Alaska had nothing, but now they control nearly $5,000,000 worth of stock and property, according to William T. Lopp, superintendent of the Alaska division of the United States bureau of education. He has been here inspecting reindeer herds grazing in the plateau of Broad Pass.

Because of the encroachment of privately owned herds of reindeer on the Seward peninsula and Point Barrow section of the territory, it is planned eventually to remove the Eskimo herds to Broad Pass, with Cantwell as the directing base. The first herd of 5,000 animals will be driven from the Seward peninsula to Iditarod next fall, allowed to recuperate, and started again in time to cross the big rivers before the breakup in spring.

EXPERT CARE NEEDED
"Particular care must be exercised," said Mr. Lopp, "in handling the reindeer fawns. Once the human hand touches a fawn, its mother disowns it. For that reason the Eskimo herders wear gauntlet reindeer-skin gloves and a reindeer-skin parka, and also spread reindeer skin in the sleds on which the little creatures are placed until the herd rounds up for the night and they can be delivered to their mothers in bringing over the herds from the Point Barrow region it will be necessary to drive them to the Yukon river, there to load them on specially constructed barges on which they will be towed up the river to Nenana, where they will be shipped by the Alaska railroad to Cantwell. It is estimated there is a strip 100 miles square in this vicinity suitable to reindeer grazing. With rail transportation at hand, those interested in the industry predict that some day before long reindeer meat will be as common as mutton in the markets of the states.

AGAIN PEPGEN BRINGS RELIEF TO LIMA WOMAN

"It is wonderful," said Mr. Charles M. Hunter today, "the way we are every day receiving endorsements of this medicine. Pepgen, from well known Lima people who have been giving it a trial. This is a proof of the value of any remedy. In my opinion, the endorsements given by those who have given it a trial. When a medicine is recommended by people living right here at home, there can be no doubt that it is all that it is claimed to be."

"I wish to add my endorsement of Pepgen to that of the many other Lima people who have taken it," said Miss Nettie Pott of 227 N. Union St.

"I have been in a rather nervous and run down condition for some months. My sleep was not sound and in the mornings I did not have much life or energy. I would have a pain right across the small of my back. Sometimes it would be so severe I could scarcely stoop over. I think a great deal of my trouble was from my stomach. I did not seem to get much stomach out of the food I ate. Often I would have attacks of indigestion.

"One of my neighbors was taking Pepgen and she recommended it to me. I began taking it and I have found Pepgen an excellent remedy. Before the first bottle was gone I found I was not nearly so nervous as I had been. I would go to bed and go right to sleep and in the morning felt refreshed and rested. Pepgen improved my appetite wonderfully and when I would eat a hearty meal there would be no bad after effects.

"Yes, it is surely a good medicine and I am glad to recommend it to the people of Lima."

CAUTION: The genuine Pepgen is packed in a white and blue carton and may be obtained in Lima only at The Hunter Drug Stores, 49 Public Square and cor. Main & Wayne Sts., and The Argonne Store. There is a Pepgen store in every nearby town.

SCOTS MIGRATING TO CANADA

300 in Party Seek Western Land for Livelihood

GLASGOW — (Associated Press) — Three hundred more Hebrideans have left their native primitive lands to settle in the provinces of western Canada. Like the several thousands which left the islands during the last three years, the newest contingent will settle near Red Deer, Alberta.

It was only after much effort that a party could be formed, for the settlers are loath to leave their native islands, where their forefathers dwelt for several centuries. After arrangements have been completed for the departure, more than half of the prospective emigrants returned to their thatched huts. When the immigrants reach Alberta they will find new cottages and farms. They will be allowed to farm, if they wish to farm themselves, or will be given employment.

Bad weather has ruined the crops on the islands for the last two years, reducing the inhabitants to a piteous state. What food and clothing they have had has been given by the Scottish government, but the funds from this source are rapidly being exhausted. The population of the Outer Hebrides is about 45,000, which the government hopes to reduce about a third to enable the remainder to live.

ASIA WAR ATTACK IN MANEUVERS

Mythical Enemy Will Approach from Soviet Russia

TOKIO — (Associated Press) — The plan of Ishikawa prefecture, which fronts on the Sea of Japan, looks out to the northwest toward the territory of Soviet Russia, and will be the scene of the grand military maneuvers which will take place in October.

Announcement of this plan has excited special interest in official and diplomatic circles because of the scene chosen for the mimic warfare. Not for many years have the maneuvers been held in the western districts of Japan. For the most part they have been staged on the eastern or southern coasts and based on the assumption that a mythical enemy was approaching from the Pacific ocean or China sea.

This year the enemy will be imagined as attacking from Siberia. The army and navy will cooperate in defensive operations. Nearly five divisions of troops will take part, as well as all the aviation units stationed in the western districts. Experiments will be made in the employment of new weapons and in long distance transport.

The maneuvers will be held under the personal supervision of the prime minister, General Fukuoka, and General Prince Nashimoto are expected to be the leaders of the opposing armies.

PROFITS IN WHALING REVIVE LONG NEGLECTED INDUSTRY

MADRID — Whaling as an industry has been so profitable in Spain that several new companies are being formed to carry on whaling expeditions. The first station at Algeciras, established and managed by British capital, has been such a success in the past year that the same operators will establish another base in the north of Spain. Other companies under Spanish control have already selected operating bases and are purchasing equipment. Meanwhile the sardine fishing industry is in a precarious condition owing to the distance from the shore at which the fish are caught, and the Galician fishermen who have hitherto been engaged in it are turning their attention to cod. A Spanish commission has been sent to Newfoundland to study the methods of cod-fishing in use in those waters.

NEW ENGLAND FIRST IN READING NEWSPAPERS

EUGENE, Oregon — New York, New Jersey and the New England states are first in the United States in the percentage of newspaper readers, with the Pacific Coast states first in magazine reading and second in newspaper reading, Prof. George S. Tursbull of the University of Oregon here has declared after a study of statistics.

Massachusetts was first in the nation in newspaper readers with 54 percent, and California having a circulation of 1,860,000 daily papers among a population of 3,426,861, was second with 53 percent. New York, 51.5 percent, was third; Missouri, 47, fourth, and Oregon, 42, fifth.

Oregonians read 1.4 percent of the number of copies of magazines circulated in the country, or nearly twice the average for any other state.

Thirty percent of the 1920 population of the United States read the morning and evening papers, according to Prof. Tursbull's figures.

CENSOR GOWNS

ATHENS, Greece — Fashionable women in Athens are being terrorized by a local organization which terms itself "the Zealots of Christ." The members of this organization have taken a vow to compel modesty in women's dress by force. Women with bare arms or wearing low-necked gowns are often roughly handled and the exposed parts of their persons are smeared with tar.

FILIPINO YOUTHS GET U.S. AID

Cash Balance of $10,000 Available for Year's Work

MANILA — The American Guardian Association, organized for the purpose of caring for destitute mestizo (American-Filipino) children, closed its second year with an ample cash balance in bank and $10,000 invested as an endowment, according to the report of Lieutenant Colonel Gordon Johnston, U. S. A., who has just retired as president to return to duty in the United States.

At present 125 American-Filipino children are under the care of the association. They are distributed among Catholic, Episcopal and Union church institutions where they are given instruction. Funds for the maintenance of the association's activities are raised by a membership fee and dues, and by individual donations.

"Encouragement of the establishment of homes for American-Filipino children by religious bodies with supervision by the American Guardian Association has been the policy of the organization," said Colonel Johnston. "I am satisfied that not only a secure foundation of moral character but a sound preparation for life, coupled with a proper viewpoint, is being implanted in these children. They are taught to work and to respect work."

James A. Ostrand, associate justice of the supreme court, was elected president of the association for the ensuing year.

CHURCH MEETING ENDS ALLIANCE — Barberton was chosen for the annual East Ohio Conference of the United Brethren church September 16-21 at the closing session of the Ministerial Institute and Sunday School convention in Alliance church late Wednesday. One hundred and twenty-five delegates were registered for the three day meeting here.

It was only after much effort that this party could be formed for the crofters are loath to leave their native lands, where their forefathers have dwelt for several centuries. After arrangements have been completed for the departure, more than 50 of the prospective emigrants refused to carry out their decision, and returned to their thatched huts.

When the immigrants reach Alberta they will find new cottages awaiting them. They will be allotted farms, if they wish to farm for themselves, or will be given farm employment. Bad weather has ruined the crops on the islands for the last two years, reducing the inhabitants to a pitiful state. What food and clothing they have had has been given by the Scottish government, but the funds from this source are rapidly being exhausted. The population of the Outer Hebrides is about 45,000, of which the government hopes to move about a third to enable the remainder to live.

ASIA WAR ATTACK IN MANEUVERS

Mythical Enemy Will Approach from Soviet Russia

TOKYO — (Associated Press)—The plan of Ishikawa prefecture, which fronts on the Sea of Japan and looks out to the northwest toward the territory of Soviet Russia, will be the scene of the grand military maneuvers which will take place in October.

Announcement of this plan has excited special interest in official and diplomatic circles, because of the scene chosen for the mimic warfare. Not for many years have the maneuvers been held in the western districts of Japan. For the most part they have been staged on the eastern or southern coasts and based on the assumption that a mythical enemy was approaching from the Pacific ocean or China sea.

This year the enemy will be imagined as attacking from Siberia. The army and navy will cooperate in defensive operations. Nearly five divisions of troops will take part, as well as all the aviation units stationed in the western districts. Experiments will be made in the employment of new weapons and in motor transport.

The maneuvers will be held under the personal supervision of the prince regent, General Prince Fushimi, and General Prince Nashimoto are expected to be the leaders of the opposing armies.

PROFITS IN WHALING REVIVE LONG NEGLECTED INDUSTRY

MADRID — Whaling as an industry has been so profitable in Spain that several new companies are being formed to carry on whaling expeditions. The first station at Algeciras, established and managed by British capital, has been such a success in the past year that the same operators will establish another base in the north of Spain. Other companies under Spanish control have already selected operating bases and are purchasing equipment. Meanwhile the sardine fishing industry is in a precarious condition owing to the distance from the shore at which the fish are caught, and the Galician fishermen who have hitherto been engaged in it are turning their attention to cod. A Spanish commission has been sent to Newfoundland to study the methods of cod-fishing in use in those waters.

NEW ENGLAND FIRST IN READING NEWSPAPERS

EUGENE, Oregon — New York, New Jersey and the New England states are first in the United States in the percentage of newspaper readers, with the Pacific Coast states first in magazine reading and second in newspaper reading. Prof. George S. Turnbull of the University of Oregon here, has declared after a study of statistics.

Massachusetts was first in the nation in newspaper readers with 54 percent, and California having a circulation of 1,860,000 daily papers among a population of 3,426,861, was second with 53 percent. New York, 51.5 percent, was third; Missouri, 47, fourth, and Oregon, 42, fifth.

Oregonians read 1.4 percent of the number of copies of magazines circulated in the country, or nearly twice the average for any other state.

Thirty percent of the 1920 population of the United States read the morning and evening papers, according to Prof. Turnbull's figures.

ATHENS, Greece — Fashionable women in Athens are being terrorized by a local organization which terms itself "the zealots of Christ." The members of this organization have taken a vow to compel modesty in women's dress by force. Women with bare arms or wearing low-necked gowns are often roughly handled and the exposed parts of their persons are smeared with tar.

FILIPINO YOUTHS GET U.S. AID

Cash Balance of $10,000 Available for Year's Work

MANILA — The American Guardian Association, organized for the purpose of caring for destitute mestizo (American-Filipino) children, closed its second year with an ample cash balance in bank and $10,000 invested as an endowment, according to the report of Lieutenant Colonel Gordon Johnston, U. S. A., who has just retired as president to return to duty in the United States.

At present 125 American-Filipino children are under the care of the association. They are distributed among Catholic, Episcopal and Union church institutions where they are given instruction. Funds for the maintenance of the association's activities are raised by a membership fee and dues, and by individual donations.

"Encouragement of the establishment of homes for American-Filipino children by religious bodies with supervision by the American Guardian Association has been the policy of the organization," said Colonel Johnston. "I am satisfied that not only a secure foundation of moral character but a sound preparation for life, coupled with a proper viewpoint, is being implanted in these children. They are taught to work and to respect work."

James A. Ostrand, associate justice of the supreme court, was elected president of the association for the ensuing year.

Under the franchise agreement, the power company is to build a power plant at the city and to operate it for a period of 25 years. The city is holding out for a rate of 4.50 cents per kilowatt hour and the power company is holding out for 5.00 cents.

Members of the city council will probably decide at the next meeting whether or not the franchise dispute between the city and the Northwestern Ohio Power & Light Co. will be taken before the state public utilities commission. It was learned here Thursday.

Question of rates is the only problem confronting the city and the power company. The city is holding out for a rate of 4.50 cents per kilowatt hour and the power company is holding out for 5.00 cents.

Received a $500 Check From Lima News Claim Adjuster!

Shortly after The Lima News announced a new service to its readers whereby subscribers between the ages of 15 and 50 might buy a $500 certificate of group life insurance for $5.20 a year without physical examination, Mrs. Nettie B. Parks, 111 W. Vine St., called at The News office and made application for this insurance and received her certificate December 1, 1923. Her daughter, Bertha Idella Parks, 13 years of age, was named beneficiary and Mrs. Parks remarked at the time she was making out her application that she was taking out this insurance so that if anything would happen to her, Bertha could use it to secure an education.

When this check was presented to Mr. Parks, Guardian of Bertha I. Parks, he was emphatic in his praises for The Lima News and its unusual insurance service, and grateful for the promptness with which the claim was paid.

"I hope every News subscriber will accept my advice," he said, "and take advantage of this exceptional service which will mean so much to my daughter."

The group life insurance plan under which Mrs. Parks was insured was worked out by Lima News officials as a service contemporaneous to the popular travel accident insurance which this newspaper supplies its subscribers. The Lima News was one of the first newspapers in Ohio to make the exceptional offer, and in doing so makes it possible for any reader, man or woman, aged 15 to 50, to buy a $500 certificate of group life insurance, in the reliable Gem City Life Insurance of Dayton, Ohio, for the slight cost of $5.20 a year, payable quarterly. No physical examination is required. The advantages of this plan are obvious, and subscribers have responded to the offer with alacrity. Lima News officials adjust all claims promptly and equitably, no matter what the cause of death.

Buck Passing

Due to the fact that an election is to be held next fall, every possible effort probably will be made to soft pedal the St. Johns-rd scandal, for such that expensive piece of paving has become.

One member of the present board of commissioners is seeking re-election and another is seeking another high county office. The fact that the taxpayers of this county are going to be forced to pay out several thousand dollars to save the $50,000 paving which was completed late last summer is not going to make particularly good campaigning ammunition.

We do not believe in baiting office holders, but we do believe in a square deal for the taxpayers. When one can go out on a road and kick holes in the high-priced paving material with his shoe as can be done on the St. Johns-rd, something is wrong and the taxpayers are not getting a square deal.

The buck passing already has started. The commissioners "thought" they had some kind of a guarantee bond, but couldn't find it after the bad condition of the road was called to their attention by the Lima Automobile club. If the commissioners did not know that the road was going to pieces, it was their own fault. They could jump in one of the fleet of county cars they have bought and drive over the entire road in fifteen minutes.

It might be remembered that there was threat of an injunction on this contract when it was let. And it might also be remembered that the work was not let to the low bidder, but awarded at a top price. The taxpayers should not forget this kind of service and they should make a point to drive over the St. Johns-rd as soon as possible, drive over it to the far end and back again. This should be done before election time, at the latest.

This newspaper believes that a man should be elected to look after Lima's interest on that important board. This city pays the majority of taxes in the county, which the board spends. Drive out over the St. Johns-rd, get an estimate on the cost of repairing it from an expert, then tell us whether or not you agree with The News on this matter.

A Weak Navy

Uncle Sam probably would gladly sink his entire navy if all other countries would do the same. When Uncle Sam called the disarmament conference in Washington, he was willing to reduce his navy as far as was possible with safety. And that was what happened.

Our naval experts figure that, to be reasonably well protected, our fighting fleet must be on an equal footing with England's and two-thirds stronger than Japan's. This program went into effect, giving Great Britain, United States and Japan the respective standings of 5-5-3.

Lately you have been reading a lot of controversy about the navy having fallen behind the 5-5-3 standard.

Just what its actual fighting strength is, must be confusing to most readers. It is weaker in some classes of ships than in others. Elevations of guns, determining how far a shell can be fired, also enters in the discussion.

The thing to keep in mind, however, is the navy as a whole—as an organization ready to give battle when attacked. In this connection, we must remember that no chain is stronger than its weakest link.

Our Navy Department announces that the relative fighting strength of the fleets of Britain, America and Japan is 5-4-3.

Some experts go as far as to claim that the ratio is 5-1-3—that in actual battle strength our fleet is only a third as strong as Japan's and a fifth as strong as Britain's. This is the extreme view.

The fact remains, however, that our navy is claimed to have become weakened—fallen below the relative standing that our best experts consider necessary for safety.

If, as claimed, the navy is weaker than is necessary for national safety, the thing to do is to bring it back up to its strength as agreed on at the disarmament conference—and do it quickly.

Japan is building 84 fighting ships with a total displacement of 178,065 tons. And Uncle Sam is building only 24 ships with tonnage of 61,491. The obviously means that we are headed toward even a weaker naval standing than at present.

Congressional watchdogs of the public treasury, incidentally, before spending a lot of tax money should ascertain where truth ends and militaristic propaganda begins.

Picking a Governor

Hitting the nail squarely on the head is one of the usual practices of Bob Ryder, editorial genius of the Ohio State Journal at Columbus.

This man Ryder, long in the newspaper harness, perhaps from club reporter to his present exalted position of weaving into words the policy of an influential newspaper, has seen many governors come and go. He possesses a unique ability to separate the wheat from the chaff, the sheep from the goats among office holders.

He knows the fundamentals required for the making of the right kind of governor, as well as for any other position of public responsibility and trust. It isn't so necessary, Ryder believes, that a chief executive should be a great scholar, a brilliant scientist, a great statesman, or even that he should be the product of a college, so long as he is honest and possesses courage, refusing to permit himself to be surrounded by dishonest persons.

The State Journal comment is particularly apropos at this time, when many are looking longingly toward the gubernatorial chair. The warning sounded is a timely one. It doesn't do a great amount of good for folks to kick after a governor is elected. The thing to do is to guard against making a mistake in the first place.

Foreign-Born

The 10 largest American cities have a combined population of more than 15 millions. Of these, nearly four millions are foreign-born residents of voting age.

No figures are available as to how many out of these four millions have become naturalized citizens. But a tremendous number still are outside the fold.

What's become of the Americanization movement that we heard so much about a year ago? Every person living under our flag should have a voice in determining how he is to be governed. The only way to get that voice is by becoming a citizen. With national elections approaching, now is the time to impress this argument on the unnaturalized.

Inevitable

The first big railroad to couple its rail service with an extensive motor truck system is the New York Central. It is already using trucks for package freight and rapidly increasing the mileage.

A former generation of railroad men would have fought motor truck competition by trying to strangle it. People are wiser now. They keep the old and adopt the new, using both—knowing that there is plenty of work for both. Steam railroads already are inadequate for transportation needs. Before long, progressive railroads will be establishing airplane routes.

Worthwhile

In France an aviator named Coupet breaks the world's record by flying to a height of over three and a half miles above ground with 2200 pounds of cargo aboard.

This is a lot more important than smashing speed records. Flyers in general are obsessed with a craze for speed. What is needed most, to popularize flying, is SAFETY and CARRYING CAPACITY. Enormous express and passenger traffic will be handled by planes of the future. Flying still is more of a sport than a serious business.

Executioner

Another public executioner commits suicide in Germany—his name Schwiess, age 74, retired on a small pension.

In his career he chopped off the heads of 123 criminals.

Not an enviable record to carry into the Hereafter. He is on the other side now and knows how many (if any) of his victims were innocent, also whether capital punishment is classed as murder on the other side. The original version was "Thou shalt not kill"—without qualifications. Man has amended it for warfare and revenge.

A spotless reputation needs more care than a pair of white trousers.

Almost a hundred million dollars worth of tobacco will go up in the United States this year.

Agrarian bands are terrorizing Vera Cruz land owners and many American jazz bands are still at large.

In Los Angeles a man was arrested for spanking wife. Bussies had their advantages.

A used car owner tells us he thinks he is driving a bargain.

ESSENCE OF SPRING

BY HAL COCHRAN

Dog gone! It's spring and there isn't a thing that has never been written about it. The story is old and it always is told; when the spring comes around poets shout it.

The birds sing the same as they always have sung and the frogs croak the usual way. The real thoughts of spring have so often been flung that it's useless to fling 'em today.

Why, even the creek hasn't changed, so to speak, and the water still trickles galore. The kids, if you please, wade around in their knees—but you've all heard that story before.

The dandelion yellow, the violet blue; and the moss that grows under the brush, are all quite familiar to me and to you, like the song of the robin or thrush.

The feeling of spring is a wonderful thing, but it's foolish to bother my head at writing about it when you, I don't doubt it, can step out and feel it instead.

THE QUESTION NOW ARISES—CAN HE PUT HIS IDEA OVER ON THE GANG?

LIMA NEWS HEALTH SERVICE

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

HOME PREVENTION OF RESPIRATORY INFECTIONS

The official bureau of health in the government administration in the United States is a subsidiary bureau of the treasury department—health being wealth, you understand—called the public health service. In the official bulletin of the public health service called public health reports there was published Nov. 9, 1923, the following:

Home Nursing of Pneumonia Cases
"The apparent increasing prevalence of respiratory infections calls for the more general employment of practical measure of prevention. The following extract of an article on this subject which appeared in the Medical Office of Sept. 29, 1923, is timely and worthy of reproduction for the guidance of laymen in the precautions to be taken in the home and sick room to prevent the development of secondary cases:

Pneumonia is an Infectious Disease
It is caught from another person who has the disease.

It is spread by means of sputum and discharge from the nose.

What to Do When Pneumonia is Prevalent
Avoid crowded and all ventilated rooms.

Avoid fatigue, chills, and unnecessary exposure.

Avoid alcoholic excess.

Keep fit.

Gargling and nose washing night and morning are useful measures. A suitable solution is made by mixing one teaspoonful of common salt with a pint of warm water and adding sufficient crystals of permanganate of potash to give it a pink color.

What to Do When Nursing a Case of Pneumonia
The patient should have a separate room, if possible, so that it has a sunny aspect. Remove unnecessary furniture and keep the room well ventilated and clean.

Remember that the sputum and discharges from the nose are highly infectious either directly by the acts of coughing, sneezing, and talking, or indirectly by the soiling of linen, handkerchiefs, cups, spoons, or the hands of the attendant nurse.

Therefore, to destroy the germs of infection, it is necessary—to collect and destroy the sputum. A cup containing a strong solution of chloride of lime or a 10 per cent solution of compound cresol solution in water (one part cresol to nine parts of water) can be used for the patient to spit into. Handkerchiefs should be put into a 5 per cent solution of compound cresol solution in water (one part compound cresol solution in 19 parts of water)—two table-spoons of compound cresol solution in a pint of water would make about 5 per cent solution. Old clean rags or paper handkerchiefs are useful because they can be promptly burned.

The patient should be kept clean; face and hands should be frequently washed, as these soon get contaminated."

I have quoted all this at length because it represents the present practice. Altho the public health service article started out to talk about the respiratory infections it deals with only one of them, pneumonia. And altho the article quoted from the Medical Officer makes no bones about defining the cause of pneumonia and the way the disease is contracted, it goes on with the same old hokum about avoiding chills, unnecessary exposure, all ventilated rooms. Everything is there save only the conventional caution about getting your feet wet or forgetting your chest protector—of red flannel, red, not pink. It is well known that I never hesitate to insult or offend readers, but one way to insult anybody's intelligence I am not guilty of, and this is advising anybody to be careful to avoid exposure."

The general instructions regarding the use of cleanliness and disinfectants are not so bad. That one about avoiding alcoholic excess is good, too. Good thing to avoid all the time, even if pneumonia is not prevalent. But come to think of it, pneumonia is always prevalent anyhow. Had the Medical Officer and public health service not got switched off upon the solemn business of avoiding exposure and booze they might have remembered to warn folks about the dangers of mouth spray which is patented and is sent from the face of a talking person.

FOR THE DAY

Let me go thru the day
With kindly thought for all;
To live, to work, to play,
And with the night recall
The journey and its care
And find no hatred there.

Let me not, mad for gain,
Clear-eyed and unashamed,
Still clinging to the right,
My record undefamed;
Let not my conscience see
The marks of shame on me.

Let me not, mad for gain,
Or pomp or place or pride,
Cause others needless pain;
Or thrust the weak aside;
Let no one say I've been Cruel or base or mean.

Whatever may befall
To me thruout the day,
Let me come thru it all
Fair as I start away;
Let me, when night brings rest,
Know that I've done my best.

LADY SUFFERED FOR 18 YEARS

Could Not Eat or Sleep; Says
the Plant Juice Gave Her Blessed Relief

NEVER FELT ANY BETTER

"For 18 years I had suffered constantly. I had stomach trouble and was extremely nervous. I could hardly eat or sleep. And yet, had as I was, I want to say that the first few doses of your Plant Juice reached my case and began to relieve me and now, since I have continued to take it, my troubles are gone. I feel like a new woman."

MRS. G. E. DWIGHT

This surprising statement was made recently by Mrs. G. E. Dwight, well known lady of Fort Worth, Texas, living at 2703 Avenue "D," Politechnic, Fort Worth.

"It seemed like my stomach was entirely worn out," Mrs. Dwight continued while talking with The Plant Juice Man. "After eating the lightest kind of a meal, I would be violently nauseated, I kept losing weight and had become as weak as a kitten and my complexion was pale and sallow. And I was so nervous I could not sleep. I suffered all the time with my back and head."

"The first few doses of your Plant Juice surely surprised me. I had suffered so long that I thought I would have to take Plant Juice quite a while before I would begin to have an effect on me, but instead of that, the medicine began to improve me at once. And now, since taking two bottles, I am simply feeling like a new woman. My stomach has improved so much that I eat the heaviest kind of food and it agrees with me perfectly. I have gained weight and strength; my complexion is good and clear now and I sleep like a child. In fact, I never felt better in my life and it is all due to your Plant Juice."

Plant Juice is sold in Lima at the Hunter drug stores, 49 Public Square and Main and Wayne streets; also at the Argonne drug store, oppo. Post Office.

Rex Ingram's "Scaramouche" which has been playing to capacity houses at the Sigma theatre, appears for the remainder of the week. This film, which is a screen version of Rafael Sabatini's famous novel of the French Revolution, is one of the greatest photoplays yet made in the motion picture industry.

The picture not only represents a great historical event accurately but there is entwined as pretty and wholesome a romance as has been written in a long time. The film is an educational and artistic treat and is well worth anyone's time to see.

The cast of 10,000 is headed by Alice Terry, Lewis Stone and Ramon Novarro. George Seigmann and Julia Swayne Gordon.

Following "Scaramouche," the Sigma management announces the

Just because it is now known that burning, sore, aching, swollen feet are caused by trouble in the many joints in the foot and Joint-Ease gets right in and gets to the seat of the trouble—the cartilage and ligaments of the joints.

And to think that for generations we have been powdering and soaking our feet, thinking the trouble was only skin deep—an old-fashioned idea.

MRS. MOSHER HOSTESS AT MEETING

Mrs. C. C. Mosher opened her home, 1044 W. Market-st., Wednesday for an all day meeting of the Mercy Circle of King's Daughters. Sewing for the Allen-Go Red Cross was the morning's diversion and luncheon was served at noon. The afternoon was spent in business, when Mrs. Kent W. Hughes, leader of the Circle, presided.

Reports were given by those in charge of the Lenten musicale and tea and May Day breakfast. The entire proceeds from these benefit affairs, when more than $200 was taken in, will be used for local charities. A portion of this amount will be put in a fund to be used in furnishing a room for the new City Hospital.

A nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Oliver Steiner, Mrs. B. A. Gramm and Mrs. C. E. Schell, was appointed by Mrs. Hughes and will make their report before the June meeting, when the election will take place.

Devotionals were conducted Wednesday by Mrs. C. E. Schell, Assistant hostess, with Mrs. Ernest C. Baird, Mrs. B. A. Gramm, Mrs. John Roby, and Mrs. Lester Pratt.

The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Peter Hulsken, State-st.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart:

We have never asked your advice before but we know that you are always right. We are two girls, 12 and 14 years old and are very inquisitive as you will see.

What grades should we be in?

Do you know where I can get a book of funny stories for the school?

Can you give me Keweenaw Island, Johnny Walker's and George O'Hara's addresses?

Is there any harm in dancing together at our homes?

Is there a good medicine to remove you know of? We have both freckles, dark complexion and hair that is between light and dark. What color can we wear best? We are both five feet, three inches tall. Are we tall enough? How long should we wear our dresses? My teeth are naturally yellow. Is a dentist or tooth paste has ever been able to make them white? Oh, you know what will make them white?

How is my writing, English and spelling?

"MISIS" and "PATSO"

Sixth grade children are usually 12 years of age, while those 14 years old should be in the eighth grade.

Go to any local music store. They have songs for the various musical instruments and you could not doubt find some humorous ones. Sometimes, magazines carry advertisements for song books.

Kenneth Harlan's address is 318 E. 48th-st., N. Y. C. I am sorry, but I am unable to find the other two actors listed in the motion picture directory for this year. They may be out of the movies at this time.

No, there would be no harm; that is, if your parents do not object.

For freckles, buttermilk or sour milk, 2 oz. of grated horseradish, 2 dr. corn meal, 8 dr. Spread this mixture between thin muslin and allow it to lie on the affected parts as long as possible at night, care being taken to keep it away from the eyes. A simple remedy is to use hydrogen peroxide as a face bleach, also. Half water, one part of the peroxide is the proper proportions. Light or navy blue, tan, brown, green and gray would be becoming shades for you. The average height for a girl 12 years old is 56 inches, that is, 4 ft., 8 inches; for girls, 14 years old, five feet. You are both tall for your age. Wear your dresses about 16 inches from the floor.

Drug stores sell several different kinds of teeth whiteners but I do not know much about them. If the dentist can not remedy the condition of your teeth and can suggest nothing, I would not be worried. Don't use anything without his permission because you might ruin the condition of your teeth.

Your writing is rather "up hillish," isn't it? Your spelling and letter construction is good.

Dear Miss Smart:

I am 12 years old and five feet, one inch tall. How much should I weigh? Please tell me the meanings of the following names: Nina, Wanda, Inez, Dale, Stewart, Coda and Barry.

May I write again? How is my writing?

M. C.

You should weigh 94 pounds.

Nina means grace; Wanda means peace; Inez means pure; Dale means judge; Stewart means a crown and Darrel means preserver. I do not know the meaning of Coda.

Yes, please do. Not very good, it is very irregular.

Dear Miss Smart:

May I please ask a few questions? I am 14 years old, but will be 15 in June. I am five feet, four inches tall. How much should I weigh? How should I wear my hair? I am a blonde. I would like to look best? I am a blonde.

Is it all right for me to go with the boys once in a while? That is to go with them about once a week and let him call to me about twice a week. Do you think it is all right to accept gifts from boy friends? May I write again?

BOBBY

You should weigh 115 pounds. Wear your dresses about 14 inches from the floor. Tan, navy, blue, green, grey and rose should be becoming shades for you.

No, I think you are too young to go with the boys. Wait until you are at least sixteen before you go to shows with them each week or allow them to call. No, don't accept gifts from the boys, Bobby.

GOOD MANNERS

A "tea," even though it be formal, is nevertheless friendly and inviting. One does not go in "church" clothes nor with ceremonious manner, but with an informal and everyday spirit.

Plans are being made by the Women's Board of Directors of the District Tuberculosis hospital for an afternoon benefit card party to be held May 28 at the K. of C. hall. Play will begin at two o'clock and there will be tables for bridge, five hundred, euchre and Han Jong.

Those desiring reservations are asked to call Mrs. Samuel Blatter, Mrs. T. E. Townsend or Mrs. Matthew McNamara, who compose the committee in charge.

Mrs. Joseph C. Roberts and son, Richard, are the guests of Mrs. Roberts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Block, S. Collet-st. Robert Block, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Block, has returned to his home in Mansfield, after spending several days here.

Mrs. F. H. Brown will entertain the members of the Profit and Pleasure club at the home of Mrs. Noel Franklin, Fairview-av, Friday. Luncheon will be at one o'clock.

Mrs. Russell Young, 828 State-st., received the members of the Thursday Bridge club to her home, Thursday. Luncheon at one o'clock preceded the afternoon's bridge games, when three tables were filled for play. Substitutes were Mrs. Mack P. Colt and Mrs. Frank Kahle.

Mrs. Gerald Madigan was re-elected president of the Alacer Bridge club at the annual election of officers held at Mrs. Madigan's home, Holly-st., Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Walter Costello was elected secretary.

The next meeting of the club will be held October 1, the meetings having been discontinued during the summer. New members will be taken into the club at that time.

Mrs. P. T. Mell was an only guest Thursday when Mrs. Elmer Hay, W. Market-st., entertained the members of the Thursday Luncheon Bridge club. Mrs. Hay invited her guests for luncheon at one o'clock at the Jade Tea Room, and later to her home for the bridge games. This was the final club meeting of the year.

Mrs. Bernice Bourk entertained a group of friends at her home, 631 Dingleline-av, Wednesday evening. Bunco, dancing and music were the evening's diversions and a two-course luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. G. A. Seithman.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. F. Calvert, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Bowers and daughter, Dorothy-Jeanne, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Seithman, Miss Dorothy Faust, Miss Mildred Van Osten, Willard Gramm, James Robertson, Harry Lindemith and Patricia Claire Bourk, daughter of the hostess.

Miss Martha Korn, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Korn, 355 E. Wayne-st, and James J. Agnos of Cleveland were united in marriage Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at the parsonage of St. Rose church by Father Bittman.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Bert Gable of Dyerville, Cal., a sister of the bride, as matron of honor, and Miss Mary Korn, another sister, as maid of honor. Frank Korn, a brother of the bride, was best man.

The bride's gown was a cocoa-shade canton crepe and she wore a large hat to match. Her corsage was brides' roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Gable wore blue canton crepe and Miss Korn, more tan crepe.

Mr. and Mrs. Agnos left at noon for a short wedding trip thru the South. They will make their home in Cleveland.

The immaculate Conception Sodality of St. Rose church will give a card party and program in the St. Rose auditorium, Thursday evening. Miss Nell Bland and Miss Hattie Cooney are in charge.

CY THEREA THE GODDESS OF LOVE

HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

by RUDY AYRES
© NEA SERVICE

"You don't despise me, then? I—I thought—
She covered her face with her hands.

Monty looked away from her bowed head. He would have given a rest deal in that moment to have been able to recall those impulsively spoken words to David Bretherton. He was slowly beginning to realize that it was in this woman, who was not really beautiful, and not in the past smart, that had so endeared her to this quiet household.

There was something so womanly about her, something—He could define his feelings. Impulsively he held out his hand.

"If I ever can be of use to you I hope you will ask me."
Mary laid her trembling fingers in his.

"You are very kind," she said, then turned precipitately and ran from the room.

This was her last night at the Red Grange. Already she had put together the few things she had brought with her, and packed them in a bag that bore Nigel Bretherton's initials.

It was one of his many possessions which Dolly had left behind her.
He had cared nothing for the man; now he was gone she cared nothing for anything that had been his.

Mary sat down at the little writing table which Miss Varney had had screwed in the room for her. She took Dolly's letter from a locked drawer and spread it out before her.

It was strange, she thought, that Dolly's letter and Monty Fisher could have come so near together. It had been wonderful that she had been left so long undiscovered.

And any day now David might hear from Dolly. Mary knew Nigel's idow very well, knew that money
as everything in the world to her,
at she would leave no stone unturned to get anything she could on David.

Her only hope lay now in flight,
get away and leave no trace behind her.

She had meant to write to Dolly,
it the dinner gang rang before she d written more than a couple of es, and she thrust the letter hasty-away.

Every detail of that last dinner is stamped indelibly on her brain
the long, beautiful room, the shining silver and wonderful glass, the neled walls and gleaming armor,
d David, the last of all the Brethertons, sitting silent and abstracted
the head of the table.

The desultory conversation was ried on by Miss Varney and sher. Mary hardly spoke, and reely touched the tempting dishes before her; she felt as if every utful word would choke her. She wondered that the emotion of her aching art was not clearly stamped in her face.

She was beginning to understand now as never before why Nigel had hated the ordinary suburban life he had been forced to lead since his riage. She could sympathize now with the way his face had always lit at the mention of the Red Grange. She, who had been there but a few eks, loved it already. How much more, then, must he have cared who d lived there all his life?

CHAPTER XLIII
For the Last Time

Instead of following Miss Varney to the drawing-room she slipped ay upstairs. Tears blinded her eyes as she went. This was the last ming she would ever spend in the old house. This was the shutting of door upon her brief glimpse of Paradise.

It was only just after eight. She knew it would be useless to attempt leave the house for another two hours, but she finished her small preations, bathed the tears from her eyes, and went downstairs again.

David met her at the foot of the stairs.

"I am going to drive Fisher to the station. Will you come with me?"
She flushed up to her eyes. She knew that it would be wiser to ree, that David's absence would give her the opportunity she wanted to ve the house unoccupied. But the temptation to go with him was great.

It was a lovely night. She could picture the long drive to the station ough the silent country lanes, the drive back, when she would be with alone.

"Why do you hesitate?"
There was a sharp inquiry in his voice. His eyes sought hers insist-ly.

She roused herself with an effort; she was afraid that he might sus-
t something from her manner. She answered quickly.

"I will come, yes, of course. I should like to."
She ran back for her hat and coat. When she came again down the rs David was still standing where she had left him. There was some-ing in his manner that gave her a qualm of fear.

When the car came to the door he turned to Fisher.

"You won't mind the back seat, Mary? It's rather cold for a lady."
Mary protested she preferred the back seat; she did not mind the ht air in the least.

"You don't know how to take care of yourself," David said, smiling.
He wrapped the rug carefully round her knees. Even after they had ted he put out his hand once through the darkness to see if she was covered.

"It is not summer yet, you know," he told her when she declared that was quite warm.

There was a crescent moon in the sky. It peeped down at them shyly ough the dark branches of the tall trees; it shed a faintly silvered light the freshly ploughed fields and white country roads.

David hardly spoke. Once or twice he half turned to address a re-k to Fisher, but for the most part they were all silent.

When the station was reached the two men got out.

David looked at Mary.

"Won't you come and see the last of him?" he asked lightly. "It do you good to have a little stretch."

Mary obeyed at once; it never occurred to her that David had no in-ion of leaving her alone for a moment. She had never doubted that her had spoken truthfully when he said he had told David nothing. She d beside him while Fisher made him goodbye.

Fisher held her hand a little longer than was strictly necessary, she ight. There was a hidden meaning in his voice for her when he said:
"I shall hope to see you in town before long."

David was frowning when they returned to the car. She saw his face an instant in the glare of the headlights.

"Do you know Fisher very well?" he asked abruptly, as he took his beside her.

She shook her head.

"No. I— She broke off; she had been going to say that she had see him once before in all her life, but stopped; she knew that Dolly seen him many times.

"No, not very well," she added, in a low voice.
David was driving the car very slowly; he looked down at her, turn-his whole body a little towards her.

"What is the matter with you today?"

"What do you mean?"

"Only that you seem changed, somehow. Don't you like Fisher any er than you liked his sister?"

She protested indignantly.

"I suppose you will never forget that. And I do like Mr. Fisher; I k he is very nice."

"I am glad." There was something dry in David's voice; he did not k again for some minutes, then: "So you are going to stay with them ou don't after all?"

CHAPTER XLIV
Mary Is Afraid

"I never thought of such a thing," said Mary. "I told you before I cannot bear staying with strange people."

"Did you feel like that when you came here?"

"No, of course not! At least—" She tried to take back the eager, hatic denial, but realized that it was too late. "You were different," added helplessly, "you and Miss Varney."

"Thank you," said David softly.

Mary bit her lip. She had tried so hard not to remember that this the last time she would ever drive like this with David; she had tried ret that this was the last chapter of her stolen happiness, but some-ing in his voice, in his manner, brought it home to her with suffocating y.

She loved him. She loved his voice, his laugh, his grave eyes; she l everything about him; and yet—yet she had wilfully deceived him, lly lied to him.

If she only dared to tell him! In aching imagination she could see elf turning to him, hear herself speaking the sobbing confession; but ality she sat there, her hands clasped convulsively together beneath arm rug, trudging each flying moment, each last word.

When they neared the Red Grange she spoke:
"Need we go home just yet? It is such a lovely night, I don't want home just yet."

"It is quite early. We will go round the other way."

His voice was quite even; she did not see the sharp look he cast at s he bent towards the wheel.

She leaned back beside him with a little sigh of happiness.

David spoke suddenly.

"What are you thinking about?"

She started.

"Nothing. At least, I don't know."

He turned the car round into a narrow side road.

THE TANGLE

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

LETTER FROM ALICE HAMIL-TON TO BETTY (LADY CARNOVAN)

DEAREST BETTY:

Well, here I am in my own country, and I don't mind telling you I feel like an alien. Up to date nothing seems right to me. I am homesick for England and the dear old crowd.

In the first place, Betty dear, I had forgotten that we have no real caste in America. Your bootlegger (they have inaugurated bootleggers since I was away, you know) sets his wife and daughter up in a home on Park avenue, and thinks himself as good as anyone; and sometimes, Betty dear, I think he is as good as are the people who buy his merchandise.

My sister Leslie came to New York to meet us. In the long time that I have been away I had forgotten how romantic Leslie is. Also, she has either grown prettier, or else I had forgotten that she was a really beautiful girl. Besides this, she is a very conscientious young woman—has no real practical sense
at all.

Just now she is worrying about telling her husband that what he fondly thinks are wax beads are really truly pearls, and that they were given to her by her old sweetheart, Karl Whitney.

That was a funny, childish idea
of mine, about those pearls, Betty.
I think it was my last fairy story,
and I have never understood Karl's suscribing to it, unless it is that same romantic streak that is in Leslie.

I find he is still rather hipped over Leslie is concerned. You know the woman that one loves and loses—the unattainable woman—is always a man's ideal.

The first night we were in New York Leslie wore Karl's pearls. I confess I thought it was in bad taste, but because the sight of them must certainly bring back memories to Karl. It was surprised to find that these gems are really handsomer than mine, altho the string is not nearly as long, and when that night I presented myself in Leslie's room for a before-going-to-bed talk,
I told her that I almost felt like trading part of my string for hers.

She looked troubled, and said:

"Do you know Alice, those pearls have brought me more or less annoyance and worry every time I have worn them until tonight."

"I did not tell her, but I wasn't so sure that she wouldn't have some worry over them because of tonight's presentation of them to the bright lights."

"If you feel like that about it,"
I said quickly, "why don't you give them to me for a wedding present?"
I think perhaps it would be much better for all concerned, now that I am going to marry Karl, that I should be the one to wear them.

You know he really collected them
one by one for his wife."

"I know," she answered, and a wave of color swept over her face.
"That Karl collected those gems for me."

"It's rather nasty of you to remind me of that," I said, "for I was the one that made it possible for him to give them to you at your marriage to another man."

IF A FOUNTAIN pen or a furniture polish is worthy, sooner or later you are likely to hear of it.
Even if you never read the advertisements, the good many an unworthy polish or pen. Yet if you read the

MUTT AND JEFF—THEY GIVE THE ALPS THE ONCE OVER—

HUSBAND SAID WHY NOT TRY IT

Wife Said She Would. Reak, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

East Hardwick, Vt.—"Last winter I was not able to do any work at all. I had backache, headache, side ache, and was sick all the time for six months. We read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers, and my husband said to me, 'Why don't you try it?' So I said I would, and he went and got me a dozen bottles. It has done me more good than I can ever tell, and my friends say, 'What have you done to yourself? You look so well.' I tell them it is the Vegetable Compound that makes me so well and strong. There is no use to suffer with backache and pains. I will tell every one what it has done for me."
—Mrs. FRED. PRIMO, Route No. 2, East Hardwick, Vermont.
Housewives make a great mistake in allowing themselves to become so ill that it is well-nigh impossible for them to attend to their household duties. In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Take Oh Henry! in to see Gladys Walton! That's a combination that's worth while.

BUGS FAST A YEAR

Bed bugs often live a year without food. No wonder it is so hard to kill them with poison powder or liquid. But there is a way that gets them every time. They breathe through a score of pores, and one whiff of El Vampiro kills them. There's no danger nor mess. Rid your home of bed bugs, roaches, flies, mosquitoes, ants. Free pets, plants and animals of pests. At the nearest store in the YELLOW bellows box, 10c and 30c, and in a big sifter-top can for $1.25. There's also Liquid El Vampiro for flies; it's just as potent. Allaire, Woodward & Company, Peoria, Ill.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced "Mother's Friend," Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse. We had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" at our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., B.A. in Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

How Best to Grow the Pullets

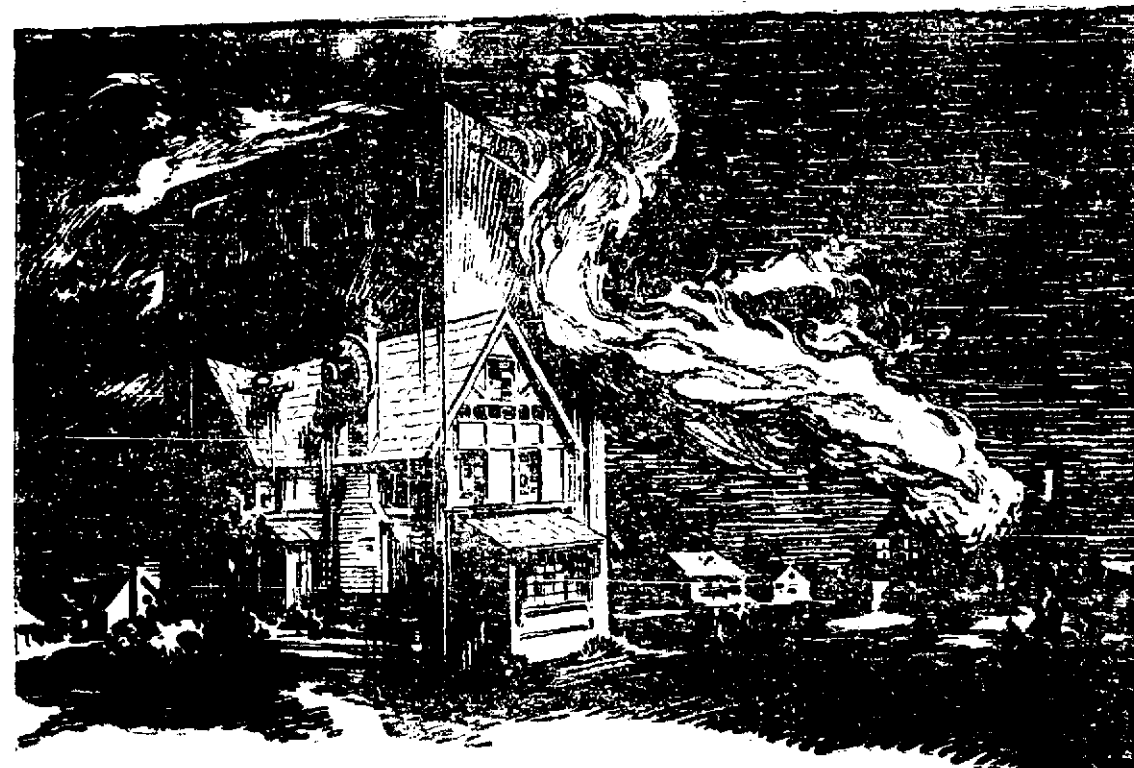

Vitality Growing Mash has never been equalled in number and quality of pullets and cockerels raised. It is the most reasonable in price because it produces greater gain in weight on less feed than any other ration.

Produces one pound of gain in weight for each two pounds of feed consumed. Feed it after four weeks for six months and your pullets are ready to lay. Nothing like it ever before placed on the market.

Vitality Growing Mash used exclusively in feeding the growing stock at the Illinois National Egg Laying Contest at Quincy, Ill.

Contains only the highest quality ingredients as oatmeal, buttermilk, meat scraps, etc. Absolutely no screenings or fillers in this high quality feed.
